Additional Experience

Justice for All: The Story of Butler County for Immigrant Justice (2026) | Directed, shot and edited by myself, Justice for All: The Story of Butler County for Immigrant Justice is a short documentary that highlights the work of Butler County for Immigrant Justice, a local grassroots activist group in Butler County, Ohio pressuring local politicians to end their contract with ICE that allows ICE to use the local jail as a detention center. Beginning in November 2025, I have performed as a filmmaker, digital content creator, video editor and social media manager for BCIJ.

Because People Are Interesting (2023) | Another self-directed documentary, this short film provides a unique window into the lives of the citizens of Philadelphia and Temple University through the introduction of a theoretical question.

Freedom of the Press (2017) | Freedom of the Press is the first student documentary I produced in high school that covers the different challenges journalists face in the modern world, particularly under the Trump administration.

It won a $250 honorable mention award in the 2018 C-SPAN StudentCam Competition.
